PRINCE GEORGE COUNTY NEWSLETTER

DEPARTING IT DIRECTOR MAJOR PART OF PRINCE GEORGE COUNTY ADVANCEMENTS

BROADBAND EXPANSION CONTINUES

On August 13th, Prince George Electric Cooperative (PGE) CEO, Casey Logan, reported to the County Board of Supervisors that PGE Enterprises, LLC dba Ruralband had completed over 500 fiber-to-the-home connections to fulfill the initial agreement with the County. In addition, Ruralband has secured a FCC Connect America Fund federal grant which includes $1.56 million for an additional 783 Prince George County locations. Next to public safety and responsible financial accounting, one could argue that information technology is the life blood of every government organization. After all, when internet doesn't work or your financial system can't pay the bills or produce payroll, nothing short of chaos starts to settle in. Since May 1, 2006, Kirsten Cherry has been at the center of the IT revolution that has hit Prince George County Government. Since September 1, 2012, she has been the Director of Information Technology and she has led an advancement that has positioned Prince George County to compete in this complicated IT world.

Kirsten announced on September 11th that she was stepping away from her position with Prince George County and she and her husband were moving to Maine. The property they have acquired is on the Canadian border and she will be assisting a non-profit organization with its technology needs. You don't replace an employee like Kirsten, you just learn from their success and do your best to move forward. We wish her well and send her off with a huge debt of gratitude for making all County jobs a little easier along the way.

STREAM RESTORATION PROJECT UPDATES

Through the Stormwater Utility Fee program, three stream channels used for stormwater drainage that were identified as severely compromised and exhibited channel erosion are undergoing transformations. The streams are located in the Birchett Estates and Cedar Creek subdivisions.

Two stream sections in the Cedar Creek subdivision have been substantially completed and work has begun at Birchett Estates. The Virginia Department of Environmental Quality (DEQ) recently awarded Prince George County an additional $655,109 grant for the stream restoration project in the Birchett Estates subdivision.

The SLAF program, managed by DEQ, provides matching grants to localities for improvement projects that implement cost-effective best management practices. This year’s awards will support 24 projects that will reduce water pollution across the state. DEQ received a total of 59 applications from 34 localities for projects totaling more than $39 million.

This stormwater improvement funding from our state partners is essential to Prince George County to tackle the degradation that has occurred over time to our stormwater drainage systems and streams. County staff and their consultant, Timmons Group, prepared and submitted the grant request.

Additional funding for these projects is provided through the County’s Stormwater Utility Fund. Fees collected through the Stormwater Utility Fee program can only be used for stormwater improvement projects throughout the County.
